RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—A plan by ardent segregationists in the Virginia Legislature to pass through some drastic last minute law that would block integration in Norfolk and Arlington schools Monday appeared on the verge of collapse today.

Leaders of the group conceded they didn't see any hope of success with Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. firmly opposed to their moves. The group has declined to accept admitting Negro pupils to white schools under federal court orders.

"He's remained immovable," said a senator from Virginia's heavily Negro populated south side. "And we are losing some of the weaker ones we felt would go along with us."

Almond, who fought the battle against integration as attorney general and since last year as governor, has taken the view there was nothing that could be legally done with chance of success.

In Charlottesville today, the school board announced the city's two closed schools will open next Wednesday on a segregated basis. The board said Wednesday was chosen to effect an orderly reopening of Lane High and Venable Elementary Schools.

Chief Justice Simon E. Sobeloff of the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals Thursday granted Charlottesville's postponement of its desegregation order until next fall. He refused, however, to stay a lower court order directing the admission of four Negro pupils Monday to Stratford Junior High School (white) in Arlington.

About 1,700 students from the two Charlottesville schools have been idled since the facilities were shut last Sept. 22 under Virginia's new defiant anti-integration laws. About 1,400 of these have been attending classes in the basements of private homes, churches and other temporary quarters.

Lower federal courts had ordered the admission of 12 Negro students to the two schools.

Bad Faith Charged to L. R. Board

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Justice Department attorneys, accusing the Little Rock School Board of bad faith, yesterday asked U.S. District Court here to block reopening of the city's public high schools on a segregated basis.

A Justice Department brief said the board's request that it be allowed to reopen the schools temporarily segregated was an effort to avoid complying with previous court integration orders.

The board asked the court for permission to take such steps in order to give it time to work out a new integration plan. A hearing is scheduled on the request next Tuesday before U.S. District Judge John E. Miller.

Attorneys of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People previously asked the court to deny the school board's request.

The Justice Department's brief was signed by Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers and other department officials.

Last night, School Board President Ed L. McKinley Jr. said that if the board's request is granted, the schools will be reopened within 48 hours.

Ike Against Any Cut in Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today any cut in proposed foreign aid spending would make it necessary to boost outlays for U.S. defense forces.

And any such increase for the security forces would be far greater than any amount saved on foreign aid, Eisenhower added.

The President set forth his view in a speech prepared for the third National Conference on Exchange of Persons, a program designed to promote better understanding among the peoples of the world.

"Those, in public and private life, who would have us cut American mutual aid and loan programs simply do not understand what these programs mean to peace and to America's safety," Eisenhower said.

"Any cutback of present budgetary levels for our mutual security program would require additional outlays for our own security forces, far greater than any amount that could be so saved."

The President's budget for the fiscal year starting July 1 calls for spending 3 1/2 billion dollars in aid abroad, as compared with an estimated $3,900,000,000 this year. Spending for U.S. military forces, on the other hand, is calculated at $40,800,000,000 this year, a 100 million dollars less than the administration request for the new fiscal year.

Congress in recent years has followed a consistent pattern of cutting administration requests for foreign aid.

Insurance Code Bill Is Before House

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A marn-ton explanation of an omnibus bill to codify the state's insurance laws dominated proceedings in the Arkansas Legislature today.

The explanation began in the Senate yesterday afternoon with insurance expert Robert Williams of Seattle, Wash.—the bill's author—outlining the provisions of the 440-page proposal. After three hours, the senators called a halt to the explanation and ordered it resumed today.

Williams drafted the bill under provisions of an act of the 1957 Legislature. He said it would modernize the state's many laws pertaining to insurance companies, make it more difficult to start new insurance companies in Arkansas, and restrict the fields of investment open to such companies.

In the House yesterday, Rep. John Bethell of Prairie County took the floor on a point of personal privilege to charge that Arkansas newspapers, and especially the Arkansas Gazette, were attempting to undermine the traditions and heritage of the South.

The Gazette has been a particularly vocal critic of Gov. Orval E. Faubus' stand on racial integration.

Bethell concluded his hour-long address by introducing a bill that would prohibit commercial organizations from using the Great Seal of Arkansas or any corruption thereon, in their names or advertising.

The nomenclature of the Gazette includes a symbol which resembles a portion of the state's seal. The symbol has been used by the Gazette since 1908.

The House momentarily snarled the Senate bill to give university status to Arkansas State College of Jonesboro.

Rep. Harry Colay of Columbia County objected to the second reading of the bill when it was brought over from the Senate, thus delaying action on the proposal for at least 24 hours. Colay gave opponents of the bill more time to line up their forces.

The bill skimmed through the Senate with a bare majority and its backers anticipated a hard fight in the House.

The House received a bill to give a severance tax break to oil well operators who install approved salt water disposal methods. The bill is designed to permit compliance with an order of the Arkansas Water Pollution Commission halting pumping of such water into the Ouachita river.

Under its provisions, operators would be permitted to deduct from coverage taxes the cost of installing and maintaining systems for re-injecting salt water into the ground.

The major new bill introduced in the Senate yesterday was one by Sen. Jerry Serretson of Hazen reorganizing the state Board of Health. It calls for the appointment of 10 members, including one from each of the state's six congressional districts.

COCOA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—An auto smashup on Ocean Beach Drive has claimed its seventh victim.

Patrick Costello died in an Orlando hospital today after surviving an accident Thursday that took the lives of five 18-year-old Orlando youths.

Kenneth Gosper, who also survived the crash, died Thursday night.

Killed when the speeding car slammed into a beach pipeline were Kenneth L. Gardner, James E. Weaver, Richard G. Kohler, Nikkie L. Morgan and John E. Rousemore.

The car, which belonged to Rousemore, son of a Miami car dealer, tore through the pipeline at windshield level, passed more than 350 feet and stopped at the water's edge.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Atomic Energy Commission today announced plans to blast open with nuclear explosions what may be the largest untapped oil reserve in the world.

The first shot, part of the AEC's Plovershield project, to demonstrate peaceful uses of atomic explosives, is expected some time in the fiscal year starting July 1. A tentative site has been picked in northwestern Colorado.

NEW YORK (AP)—A Danish ship with 80 passengers and crew aboard struck an iceberg off Greenland today. The vessel radioed a distress signal, saying the engine room was flooding.

Bill Up to Rid State of Highway Ferry Business

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A bill to take the Arkansas Highway Department out of the river ferry business at Tonduck on the Arkansas River, and at St. Charles on the White River, was introduced in the House today.

The measure would prohibit the Highway Commission from entering into any new contract for free ferry operation after the present contracts expire.

Although Tonduck and St. Charles are not specifically mentioned in Pike Rep. Alvin W. Stokes' bill, it would affect only ferry contracts entered into between July 1, 1958 and Jan. 1, 1959.

The Highway Commission signed five-year contracts with Clay Cross during this period, for operation of free ferries at Tonduck and St. Charles.

The bill would not affect present contracts.

The Highway Department has maintained a free ferry service at St. Charles for a number of years.

The Tonduck Ferry became a free facility late last year.

Stokes' bill said the efficient operation of the public highway system of the state was vital to the economy and unwise use of highway funds, such as paying for these ferries, jeopardized the highway program.

The two ferries cost approximately $40,000 a year to operate. This $40,000 figure decreases annually under present contracts.

The House also received a bill to transfer more than 2,000 miles of county roads to the state highway system.

The bill by Rep. Ode Maddox of Montgomery County provides that all county roads with an average daily traffic count of 50 or more vehicles shall be taken over by the state.

Maddox said he did not know how many miles of county roads would be involved, but he said he had heard estimates ranging upward from 2,000 miles.

The measure differs from the so-called Milum road bill in that funds to maintain county roads would be held out of county turn back money. The Milum bill would have the state highway fund pay for their maintenance.

Tabernacle Plans to Build a New Church

Along with other churches of Hope, the Gospel Tabernacle has served as a place of worship for the past 25 years. In honor of this great milestone plans are formulated to make this the greatest year in its entire history.

For several years there has been a growing need for a new church and educational building therefore this year has been designated as the kick-off for the financial drive on a long range basis toward the erection of new facilities.

Members and friends of the congregation are wholeheartedly supporting the pledge for 1959 and it is hoped that by the end of this year the building fund will have reached a sufficient amount to warrant the beginning of construction.

Although the present facilities were not built for a church they have housed the third largest Sunday School in this city. In the year 1934 the building formerly used for a skating rink was purchased and converted to a house of worship. In 1942 the tabernacle building was remodeled as it stands today.

The congregation has property across the street from the present location at N. Main and Avenue D which will likely be the site of the new building.

The Reverend Mr. Land, present pastor, said the new building is not intended to be unusually ornate but practical as a "spiritual light house in a dark world."

Two Dead, Ten Missing in Fire at Chicago

GLEN ELLYN, Ill. (AP)—Two persons, one of them a volunteer fireman, perished today in a fire in an old mission housing a nursing home.

At least 10 others were reported trapped and possibly killed in wreckage after a roof of the Glen Ellyn Acres nursing home caved in.

Glen Ellyn is a suburban community about 30 miles west of Chicago.

One of the victims was dead on arrival at Elmhurst Memorial Hospital in nearby Elmhurst. Doctors said the first injured brought in were not in serious condition.

The dead fireman was Donald Stoffregen, 45, a businessman who serves as a volunteer officer of the Glen Ellyn fire department.

Firemen reported there were 20 persons, patients and staff, in the three-story towered home. Its exterior is stucco, the interior is wood. Many of the patients are assigned there by Dr. Page County for care at $4 a day. The home is operated by Pearl R. Beard, a World War I nurse.

The statement was signed by boards of trustees for Henderson State Teachers College at Arkadelphia and Southern State College at Magnolia as well as trustees of the university.

It said: "While we have no desire whatever to interfere with the normal and proper development of Arkansas State College, and have cooperated fully to that end, it would in our opinion be a great error for the state to create a second institution of university status."

"In the first place, there is no demonstrated need for another tax-supported university in Arkansas."

"Furthermore, any attempt by Arkansas to support a second university would in a short time reduce the effectiveness of the limited funds available for higher education in the state. The state's educational dollar is already spread too thin."

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas State College Board of Trustees today submitted its resignation to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

He gave failing eyesight and hearing as his reason.

Green wrote Senate Democratic leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas that "while I have the physical stamina to carry on as chairman, I am forced to conclude that it will be a long while before my eyesight has been fully restored and this handicap removed."

The Providence (R.I.) Journal had called editorially Thursday for Green to step down. The editorial said it believed Green lacked the physical strength and was too old to hold the important post at this time.

Green's letter to Johnson said "as we both well know, my decision to resign is not based upon misleading newspaper articles or slanted editorials by a few callous newspaper writers."

Green underwent an eye operation at Lankenau Hospital in Philadelphia last fall for the removal of a cataract.

He offered to assume three sections of state highway, totaling approximately 12.5 miles, as part of the county system in exchange. One section is from Fulton west to Little River; another is Highway 55 from Highway 29 to Spring Hill and the third is from Washington to the junction of Highway 73 near Columbus.

Lawrence Blackwell, Commission chairman, stated that the "swap" would take legislative action since roads cannot be dropped from the state system without legislative approval but that the proposal would be taken under consideration.

Frank Douglas and B. N. Holt of Hope accompanied Judge Garrett to the hearing.

Judges Must Resign to Run for Office

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus yesterday signed into law a Senate bill requiring judges to resign before running for a nonjudicial position.

The bill became Act No. 5 of 1959.

In the past judges have run for governor and other executive offices without resigning their judicial positions, and Chancellor Lee Ward of Jonesboro was an unsuccessful candidate against Faubus last summer. Three other chancellors have been elected governor in the past 20 years.

U of A Protests Any University Rating for State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Trustees of the University of Arkansas and two state colleges joined today in a statement protesting a legislative move to give university status to Arkansas State College.

The Senate passed a bill to change the name of the Jonesboro school to "Arkansas State University," and the proposal now is before the House.

Search for Missing Man Continues

MARIANNA, Ark. (AP)—State Police and Lee County sheriff's officers are conducting an extensive search for Joe Chivers, 35, of Marianna, reportedly missing since last Friday.

Chivers, county welfare director, moved here Dec. 1 from Newport. He was last seen by a local youth into Friday when he got out of his car on a bank of the Little River near Marianna.

Sheriff S. C. Langston was notified Monday that Chivers was missing and his automobile was found about 60 feet from the river bank.

The sheriff intimated river-dragging operations but cancelled them yesterday.

"We do not know if Chivers considered suicide," Langston said, "but we have been dragging the river for the past few days over an area of about three miles."

He said the dragging was abandoned because the water was rising.

"We are still searching for clues but have no new leads at present," the sheriff added.

State Police are checking in other cities for possible information. Chivers' parents live at Conway.

Green Resigns From Foreign Committee

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ninety-one-year-old Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D-R.I.) today submitted his resignation as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

He gave failing eyesight and hearing as his reason.

Green wrote Senate Democratic leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas that "while I have the physical stamina to carry on as chairman, I am forced to conclude that it will be a long while before my eyesight has been fully restored and this handicap removed."

Refuses to Tell Probers About Hoffa

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul Dorfman, ousted Chicago labor union official, refused today to tell Senate Labor-Management Committee probers whether he provides a contact with the underworld for James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union. He also refused to say whether his associations with Hoffa and with Chicago mobsters figured in alleged deals to cut hospital and medical insurance benefits of rank-and-file Teamsters Union members while boosting their insurance premiums.

Dorfman, 56, a red-haired former prizefighter, invoked the Fifth Amendment, saying answers to these and dozens of other questions might tend to incriminate him.

James McShane, a committee investigator, testified Dorfman is in contact with Chicago union leaders and the Chicago underworld.

McShane, a former New York City police detective, testified that Paul Dorfman's criminal associates include Tony Accardo, successor to the late Al Capone as boss of the Chicago underworld.

He said Paul Dorfman also has been a business partner of Hoffa in running a summer camp in Wisconsin and in the Northwestern Oil Co. in North Dakota.

Dorfman was ousted by the AFL-CIO about a year ago, as boss of the Waste Material Handlers Union in Chicago. He has been named in testimony as the man responsible for getting profitable Teamsters Union health and welfare insurance contracts for a brokerage firm headed by his son, Allen Dorfman. He refused to admit or deny this when questioned today.

The son, Allen, invoked the Fifth Amendment when asked about testimony alleging that he has reaped improper profits of more than a million dollars by inflating his commission and service charges on Teamsters and other union welfare fund insurance.

Space Traveler Selection Is Being Made

NEW YORK (AP) — Selection of America's first human space traveler is under way.

T. Keith Glennan, U.S. space chief, started a staff dinner meeting for the Institute of Aeronautical Sciences with this disclosure Tuesday night.

The new federal space agency, he said, has picked 110 rugged young Americans as candidates for the first manned satellite to orbit the earth.

They will assemble in Washington for further tests, Glennan said, and be asked to volunteer for space flight. Within three months, their ranks will be reduced to about a dozen.

"I suspect that the one who will make the flight will not know he is to do so until count-down day," he added.

He said he does not know whether this country will get a man into orbit before the Soviet Union.

The Russians have been at it somewhat longer than we have, and it is wholly possible they will get us into space, Glennan told newspapermen.

The 110 potential American space pioneers, not listed by name, Glennan gave these qualifications of the man who finally will be selected:

1. A university degree in physical science or engineering.

2. A graduate of an Air Force or Navy test pilot training school with at least 1,500 flying hours.

3. A "superb" condition with the physical and psychological attributes suited for space flight as determined by aero-medical scientists.

4. Younger than 40 and no taller than 5 feet 11 inches. There are no weight restrictions.

On the last point, the stockily built Glennan, smiling and told newspapermen, "I'd like to qualify myself."

Candidates for the manned space flight will be known as Mercury astronauts. The United States' manned satellite program is now known as Project Mercury.

Arkansas House yesterday slowed down an attempt to attach university status to Arkansas State College.

Boosters of the Jonesboro school were undismayed.

They looked on the House's refusal to hear second reading of a Senate bill renaming the Institution Arkansas State University as a temporary setback—not a defeat.

Columbia Rep. Harry B. Colby objected to the second reading, normally a routine procedure. The House sustained Colby's objection by a 40-35 vote.

Points Rep. Guy French, who will have charge of guiding the bill through the House, said he wasn't worried about reaction to Colby's motion. But he hastened to pick up a copy of the roll call to see who voted how.

"I think the vote was a courtesy to Mr. Colby's objection," French said. "It doesn't mean all those representatives are against the bill."

Colby said he raised the objection to block floor consideration of the bill next week. The bill was to be read a second time today and be sent to a committee. It could not be reported back to the floor until Monday at the earliest.

"My objection was personal," said Colby. "I'm just against the bill. My whole family has a university of Arkansas background and I think this bill would hurt the university. I'm not a member of any opposition group."

Eastern Arkansas senators got solidly behind the bill in the Senate and barely obtained the 19 votes needed to pass the measure. There were 18 votes against with one senator abstaining.

Craighead Rep. Norman Wimpy, who wears an A-State booster button, said he did not feel the House would split along sectional lines.

"I think we'll get some support from all over, except in northwest Arkansas," he grinned. "We really can't hope for much help from there."

Wimpy said he expected most, if not all, of Bullock County's eight-member House delegation to back Arkansas State.

Meanwhile, Jonesboro alumni of the University of Arkansas fired a telegram to W. R. Harrison of Little Rock, president of the University of Arkansas Assn., censuring him for his active role in trying to defeat the bill.

Harrison quarterbacked a strong University of Arkansas side in a recent open hearing before a Senate committee. The alumni association has taken a strong stand against promotion of A-State, although university officials have remained silent.

One Eastern Arkansas representative said yesterday he had seen university staff members "lobbying around" the capitol, but he declined to name them and asked that his own name be withheld.

Craighead Rep. John Stiles predicted the bill would pass the House but that the vote would be close. "Probably as close as the Senate vote, and you couldn't get much closer than that."

Gov. Orval E. Faubus said yesterday he was remaining neutral in the controversy. He would not say if he would sign the bill if it passes both houses and reaches his desk.

"If I had made up my mind, I wouldn't tell you," Faubus said. The bill contains an emergency clause which would make Arkansas State a university as soon as Faubus signs the bill into law.

An unconfirmed report circulating yesterday said opponents of the bill had some plan to kill it or render it ineffective through amendment.

"We'll be watching for that," he DeVore and Miss Joan DeVore visited Mr. and Mrs. Horace Estes in Gordon Sunday.

Mrs. Dick Bright and Scott Hamilton were the guests Sunday of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Massey in Fordyce. They accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ward and Lisa who visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Morgan.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Purdie and family spent Sunday in Spargman as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Deaton.

day brought these developments: 1. Sobeloff refused to stay the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeal a lower court order directing the admission of four Negro pupils Monday to Stratford Junior High School in Arlington.

2. School officials in Norfolk announced plans to reopen six white secondary schools, closed since September, on an integrated basis Monday and called on the public to "show sincere understanding and cooperation to assure a smooth, orderly opening."

3. Gov. J. Lindsey Almond Jr. rejected the appeals of a segregationist bloc in the General Assembly for approval of emergency legislation that would delay the integration plans in Norfolk and Arlington.

A showdown between the non-integration forces and the Almond administration appeared imminent in the Legislature. At the same time, Alexandria school officials were called on to defend in federal court their rejection of 14 Negro applications for admission to white schools.

Pressure was brought to bear, too, on Warren County school authorities for the reopening of the white Warren County High School at Front Royal. It was closed in September along with the six Norfolk schools and two in Charlottesville by state anti-integration laws since ruled unconstitutional.

Seventeen Negro pupils are expected to enter the six Norfolk schools. Counsel to the pupils said all would report Monday to the schools to which they were assigned.

"No reason for Yeager to show here,"

"About that, you can't tell," Bastian said. "You never know. He took a deep drag on his cigarette, moved to leave. 'Just dropped by to give you the word.'"

Sure, thought Burke savagely. That's all. Just came by to give the word.

At the kitchen door, Meade Bastian pause dand looked at Laurie. Her back was to him still, her slender shoulders erect and defiant.

"Obliged, for the coffee," Laurie neither moved nor answered. Bastian tramped out, with Burke following. Bastian crossed to his horse, gathered up the trailing reins and stepped into the saddle. From here he stared down at Burke, and spoke some final curt words.

"Remember what I said. No help or comfort of any kind for this fellow Yeager!"

Burke drew a great deep breath. "That's making it definite though. You don't leave a man much choice, do you?"

They came down out of the Sentinels past the south rim of Rutledge Canyon and at the edge of the timber hauled up to (last night. Below them, the prairie was an inky gulf, unbroken except for a single glitter of light far to the south where Tuscarora town crouched under the burly mass of Sheridan Peak.

"Should be a good night," observed Ted Mims. "Time like this, you wake a man with the muzzle of a gun under his nose, he should gentle down fast."

Came, Alec Trezevant's harsh comment. "Let's hope so. For there's should be a lot of us in on this thing instead of three. I can't get over that Chiquabla bunch. I never would expect any show of real nerve out of Harry Hume, but I did think better of men like Hickerston and Blalock and Swayze."

Gl Yeager eased himself in his saddle, slouching his weight in his off stirrup. "You can't blame them for being cautious and cynical, Alec. They've taken a lot of kicking around by the combine, and enough of that sort of thing can knock all the spirit out of a man."

"It can also make him good and mad," Trezevant growled.

"Well, then," murmured Ted Mims, "while we're laying it on the line about who is and who ain't, what about Burke Benedict? He sure ain't acting the part of any roaring lion. What's his idea, playing along with the combine, cheek by jowl? I always figured you and Anita being pretty fond of Burke, Alec."

"I can't figure Burke any better than I can any else," said Yeager. "We got no right to close but any man just because his point of view doesn't agree with ours. Maybe Burke's got reasons for playing his cards the way he does."

"My girl Anita has an idea about the Benedicts," Alec Trezevant offered. "She's worked it out from a couple of things Burke told her before her and him busted up over the combine argument. Anita thinks the reason Burke plays it friendly with the combine people is because of old Uncle Dave Benedict, who's a plenty sick man, and has been for a long time. Anita figures it's Burke's feeling that should the Benedicts ever get booted off their land by the combine, it's probably mean a quick finish for old Dave. And if Anita's right, it means that Burke's not only got nerve, but plenty of it. For it takes a lot more to stand up to a deal like that and hold in, than it does to blow and start swinging."

Gl Yeager straightened in his saddle, staring down through the night to where the Benedict headquarters lay formless and invisible in the dark. There was an angle which, for some obscure reason, had not occurred to him before. And as he considered it now, it fitted and made sense. It could also account, he decided, not only for Burke's attitude, but for Lawie Benedict's seeming friendliness toward that fellow, Meade Bastian. Such a swift surge of satisfaction followed on the heels of this reasoning. It startled him.

"If it's true, he thought, I sure got some apologies to make. (To Be Continued)

Mikoyan Make Pitch for U. S. Trade

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—When Anastas I. Mikoyan visited the United States this month, talking with businessmen from coast to coast, he made a big pitch for American trade with the Soviet Union. This week he got a public answer.

"This, in effect, was it: If you want to trade, let's trade, but why don't you pay your bills first?" Mikoyan, Soviet first deputy premier, is the Soviet trade boss. Here he conferred with his opposite number, C. Douglas Dillon, undersecretary of state for economic affairs. It was Dillon who gave the answer.

Broken down, it goes like this: The two countries can trade, all right. But the Soviet Union which is extending credit to underdeveloped countries (with which it trades, wants this country to let the Russians buy here on long-term credits.

Thus, in talking about trading with the United States, the Soviet Union is acting like an underdeveloped country itself although it is the No. 2 economic power in the world.

Moscow can't get those long-term credits, although Mikoyan laid them down as a precondition to trading for a couple of reasons—it owes this country a big chunk of money, and until it pays up a law forbids further credits.

The Russians could do business—if they want to—on a pay-as-you-go basis, Dillon said. But he noted that the Soviet Union is the only major country with which "we have been unable to reach a settlement on 'lend-lease accounts' from World War II.

He wasn't talking about lend-lease military equipment sent the Russians during the war. He emphasized he meant only civilian-type lend-lease goods. These, he said, amounted to $2,600,000,000. He said the United States, when the two countries last discussed the matter in 1951, was willing to settle for $1 million dollars payable over a long period at low interest rates.

He said Moscow had offered only $300 millions. He noted that long-term private credits to a defaulting country are prohibited by a law enacted as long ago as 1924. But he added: "Short-term credits are, however, freely available to the Soviets on normal commercial terms."

Certain kinds of materials—those that would help build Soviet war-making power—cannot under American law be shipped to the Soviet Union. The government can prevent their shipment by controls on licenses for exporting.

Annette Rogers, Margie Henry, Sue Stone, Sarah Moses and Imogene White took part in the program.

The hostess served a delicious dessert plate and coffee to 10 members and one guest, Juanita Gunter.

Senate Takes New View of Tax Ruling

By LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Two days ago the Arkansas Senate voted 13 to 9 for a change in the state income tax.

The measure failed to pass on ground that, since it would increase some taxes, a three-fourths vote of the 35-member Senate was necessary.

Yet two years ago a bill to increase income taxes became law even though it fell short of getting a three-fourths vote in this House.

Why the difference? The explanation involves depression-era state constitutional amendment, an Arkansas Supreme Court ruling and a legislative gimmick in the 1957 bill.

In 1924, Arkansas residents adopted constitutional amendment No. 19 which said that "none of the rates" for taxes then in effect could be increased by the Legislature except by a three-fourths vote of the entire membership of each branch.

State income taxes were covered by the amendment since the income tax was first levied in 1923. The fact that the amendment said "rates" was to become of some importance in 1948.

That year the Legislature removed a deduction in state income taxes which previously had been allowed for payment of federal income taxes.

The law did not get the three-fourths vote specified under Amendment 19, and a taxpayer sought to have it thrown out on that ground.

The Supreme Court, in a 5-2 ruling, turned him down. The court majority conceded that effect of the act was to increase the state income tax. But, the majority said, the tax rates were not changed, and therefore Amendment 19 did not apply.

Sponsors of the 1957 income tax bill, which was part of Gov. Orval E. Faubus' tax package of that year, apparently tried to follow the line indicated by the court majority.

The tax rates were not changed. They remained at one per cent on the first $3,000 of income, two per cent on the next $3,000 and so on. Instead drafters of the income tax bill substituted a new formula of "tax credits" taken after computation of the gross tax to replace the old method—similar to that used under the federal law—of exemptions taken before calculation of the tax.

This resulted in an increase in the tax despite the unchanged rates.

The measure passed the Senate, where it originated, by a vote of 20 to 8.

In the House the bill got 71 of 100 affirmative votes, four less than the 75, or three-fourths majority, which would be necessary under Amendment 19.

No opponent of the income tax increase challenged the 1957 Act in the courts.

Sen. Robert Harvey of Swifton, sponsor of this year's proposed change, contends that the 1957 tax bill has fallen too heavily on the lower income groups.

He says his bill, which still could be revised, would increase the tax on residents in the upper income brackets and lower it for those with smaller incomes. The decrease would not drop the tax to pre-1957 levels, however.

Harvey would abandon the "tax credit" plan and go back to the former system of exemptions. He also would increase the rates with the bigger increase against the more prosperous. He says that them. But the list of such embargoed materials, Dillon said, has been considerably reduced until now "actually only about 10 per cent of all our products moving in international commerce are subject to embargo."

He said 800 American products need no special export license for shipment to the Soviet Union. In addition to them, he cited a long list of American products which could be shipped and which, if bought by the Russians, would help increase the economic standards of their people.

DOROTHY DIX

Envy Strikes Sour Note, Puts Girl "Out of Tune"

Dear Dorothy Dix:

Is there a cure for envy? I never was an envious person but a new girl has come to work in our office and she has brought out the worst in me. She has an adoring family, plenty of clothes, expensive furs, jewelry, her own car (though she's only a stenographer). She shops in the stores where even handkerchiefs are too high priced for me. In addition to all this she's pretty, intelligent, pleasant and cooperative. I'm just a poor, old, plain, old maid.

I really don't want to feel envy but I do—Out of Tune.

Dear O. T.: There's only one weapon with which you can fight envy. That is to acquire a philosophy that will enable you to see how foolish it is to make yourself miserable over the impossible.

Envy of girls such as your paragon possesses is rare indeed. What is she doing as a mere stenographer? She's out of her element. It doesn't make you unhappy not to be Miss America, does it? Then why let the office glamor girl throw you?

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm the very young bride of a serviceman who has been away six months. I'm very lonely without him. Lately his brother Jim has been visiting me on the average of once a week. He would like to see me more often but I feel that our friendly relationship is getting too serious. How can I tell him without hurting him?—L. W.

Dear L. W.: Jim is an opportunist. Tell him opportunity has already knocked at your door. The relationship is definitely getting too serious; ask him not to call again unless some other member of the family is present.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Several months ago I broke off with my steady because he was getting too romantic for a 16-year-old boy. He kept asking me to go out with him and finally I agreed. He was just as romantic and mushy as ever. I don't want to go out with him again but he keeps calling me and it's hard to think up new excuses—Twinkles.

Dear Twinkles: Tell him the truth. By telling him straight you will be doing your Girl Scout good deed for the month.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I've had a crush on Jerry for months and was on cloud nine when he finally asked me out. I was terribly shy (as I seem to be with all boys I'm trying to impress) and I later heard that he didn't have a very good time. I suppose it's hopeless to look for another chance but what did I do wrong—just in case?—Debbie.

Dear Debbie: You tried too hard. With the next boy who gives you heart throbs, or with Jerry if you do get that second chance, be natural. Don't try to make an impression. The only one you'll succeed in making is a bad one.

Rockefeller Observes His 85th Birthday
NEW YORK (AP)—John D. Rockefeller Jr. observes his 85th birthday today.

He expected to pass the day quietly with his wife and there were no plans for a family gathering of any kind, a spokesman said.

The Rockefellers are out of town, but the spokesman declined to say where.

The spokesman said Rockefeller is in good health for a man of his age and takes an active interest in affairs generally.

overall the state would get about the same amount it is getting under the 1957 law.

Since his bill would increase tax rates, there is no question but that it is governed by Amendment 19.

Nixon Has a Visit With Tom Dewey

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon spent an active day here Wednesday, including having a private talk with former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

But he never got to a big Republican victory dinner presided over by Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

As he left by plane for Washington shortly after midnight, Nixon was asked why he had not attended the state GOP $100-a-plate affair.

"I didn't know about it when I made my plans to come to New York and my plans for activities in New York," he said, "and I guess they didn't know I would be in town. Actually, this was just a dinner for state Republicans."

Nixon received an honorary degree Wednesday night from Fordham University and addressed the university's alumni at a dinner.

News Briefs

MERTON, Australia (AP)—Three huns and a priest were drowned Wednesday night when their dinghy turned over on a large reef near Mandurah, 60 miles south of Perth.

Two other huns were found near exhaustion today clinging to the overturned boat. The group was returning from a picnic.

LONDON (AP)—Thirty anti-missile planes in one crash Wednesday night in one crash dropped their way home through the worst fog of the winter.

The blanket of mist over much of southern England also caused a train wreck. Only one person was injured. Planes were grounded and trains were hours late or all not run at all.

COLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP)—The Air Force launched two Bomarc missiles Wednesday afternoon, four hours apart.

The ground-to-air missiles were directed at "QPR" balloons, just downed over the Gulf of Mexico. Results of the tests were not disclosed.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Army plans to develop a reliable defense against the powerful ballistic missile have taken a major stride forward with the arrival of the SS American Mariner.

The 420-foot vessel, a floating laboratory, cruised into Port Canaveral Wednesday on the start of a secret mission connected with the Army intercontinental missile program.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Contract talks between the basic steel companies and the United Steelworkers in 1959 will shift to New York, the Associated Press learned Wednesday.

Sources who declined to be identified said the talks probably will start about May 10.

There appears to be no major significance in the move to New York. However, it would break tradition. The first round of negotiations in the past has been in Pittsburgh.

There was no immediate comment from the union to the steel companies on where or when contract negotiations will begin this year.

First school in the United States to fly the American flag was at Corinth, Mass.

Bobcats Meet Bucks in Crucial Contest Tonight

The league leading Smackover Blackbirds come to town tonight for a pair of games with Bobcats. The opening contest starts at 7 o'clock.

Smackover won the 4-AAA West in December and has a 4-0 record in conference play. In that tourney they downed Hope 64 to 48. Each team has beat Arkadelphia by the same score.

Barbaree, 6'4", 230 pounds, is the leading point maker for the visitors with Baker the best outside shooter who was all-district last year. Hope has shown marked improvement in district play with a 3-1 record. They were beaten in an overtime at Camden last Saturday night and rebounding is credited with the loss, aided by the inability of the Cats to hit from outside.

Coach Don Sevier reports some of his boys have been hit by the flu this week which will handicap them considerably. The Smackover contest is considered a very crucial one for Hope.

The visiting Juniors are undefeated in conference play while the Hope Juniors have dropped one. So both games are mighty important.

Watkins and Graves will start as guards for Hope. Hairr plays center. Terry D. Thurman and Vaughn go as forwards. For the Juniors T. Roberts and J. Powell start as guards. S. Green and Portier as forwards and L. Hootch is center.

Thought For The Day:

Let us not disdain glory too much; nothing is finer except virtue. The height of happiness would be to unite both in this life. — Chateaubriand

Guernsey Edges Blevins Girls in a Thriller

The Blevins and Guernsey Senior girls put on quite a thriller in the Hempstead cage tourney at Spring Hill last night with Guernsey coming out ahead 41 to 39.

It was a nerve tingling contest which saw Blevins in the lead 38 to 35 with only three minutes to go. Guernsey's Jo Mosier calmly tossed in two free throws to put Guernsey out front with only 20 seconds to go. Twice in that final three minutes Blevins tied it up but couldn't go ahead. Jo Mosier was high with 22 points and Linda Brislow made 18. Fern Stone had 20 and Brenda Jester 11 for Blevins.

Saratoga's Senior boys downed the Guernsey boys by a 62 to 35 score. William Foster had 16 and Charlie Hawley 9 for the losers.

Kentucky and St. Louis Are Riding High

By DON WEISS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Long-time basketball powers Kentucky and St. Louis are riding higher than ever today—the Wildcats after nailing coach Adolph Rupp's 600th victory and the Billikens after snapping St. John's win streak at nine and balloning their own to 10 in a row.

Kentucky put Rupp in the charmed 600 circle in his 29th coaching year with a 108-55 victory over Georgia at Lexington. St. Louis, led by 6-8 Bob Ferry and 6-7 George Burkel whipped St. John's 72-68 in the game that was supposed to indicate whether the New York Redmen had made it all the way back to their national prominence of a decade ago.

Mississippi State, beaten only by unbeaten Auburn, made it 15-1 in a 55-52 squeaker over Memphis State, and Dartmouth won its seventh straight for an 11-4 ledger, 64-62 over Boston University in other features of the slim Thursday program.

Only Ed Diddle of Western Kentucky, among active coaches, has won as many as 600 at one school. He's 684-241 midway through his 37th season with the Hilltoppers.

St. John's No. 7 nationally, took a 12-1 record and nine in a row to St. Louis, the first stop on a three-game Midwest road trip in which the Redmen hoped to stamp themselves as the New York area's first national power in nearly a decade.

The Redmen of Joe Lapchick got up to within two points with about three minutes remaining in the end it was St. Louis which proved itself.

Patterson Will Defend Title Against Swede

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The "Secret" finally is out. Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson is going to fight Sweden's Ingemar Johansson. Best guess on the site and date is New York or Los Angeles in June or September.

Some 10 days ago promoter Bill Rosensohn said the match would be "90 per cent made." A week ago it was all set but the signing. After prolonged negotiations by a staff of legal brains, the two warriors finally signed Thursday in the shadow of the smorgasbord at a Swedish restaurant.

But the mystery isn't over yet. The date and site will be named within 30 days. At the moment, Rosensohn says New York and Los Angeles are the winter book favorites, with Colorado Springs a strong third. He can stage the bout anytime between now and Sept. 30.

The White House said in advance of the breakfast that it was arranged for a discussion of the administration's legislative program. But several of the senators who attended reported there was little talk of serious business.

Although the senators represented all shades of party opinion, Aiken said that he observed no disagreement at the breakfast.

Sen. Francis Case of South Dakota reported that he and his colleagues had a purely informal discussion of current topics with Eisenhower.

The breakfast is one of three meetings Eisenhower plans with congressional Republicans. The others, Friday and next Tuesday, will be with House members.

Matter of FACT

In spite of their great weight, elephants are very good swimmers. When they come to a deep river, they can cross it easily. The mother elephants either carry the young on their backs or carefully guide them with their trunks. Elephants are very fond of water and they bathe at every chance.

CHARMING CHARM—She's a good-luck mascot for a TV show. Every episode of "The Millionaire" has Tilda Fiedler in it. She appears fleetingly and has never uttered a word.

RED SHOW PLACE—Communist China is building up its southern island of Hainan as a show place to rival U.S.-aided Formosa (see Newsmap). The two islands are about the same in size—a little over 13,000 square miles. The Reds are working on a huge irrigation dam, which will also serve as a power source. Hainan is rich in minerals and farm areas. It has a population of 2.8 million compared with Formosa's 10 million.
